

1. Use Facebook groups (I know the newer generation of kids don't really use FB, but the apartment renting scene in Rome is still active there)

- VCN - <https://www.facebook.com/groups/2420600754>
- International Students - <https://www.facebook.com/groups/327220234073475>
- Cerco Casa Piazza Bologna - <https://www.facebook.com/groups/224049681089489>

The first two groups are for expats and international people. The last group is a local Italian one which has the most options.

2. Also look on local Italian websites such as:

- Subito.it
- Idealista.it

Or other websites that you find using the search inquiry "affittare appartamento". Search inquiries in English will give you very limited options that are also very overpriced, so don't do searches on google in English.

3. Write your messages to people in Italian (with exception of the international groups). Use chatGTP to correct your draft messages (or just translate if you don't know the basics of Italian yet to practice writing a draft– it is far superior to google translate).
